

Peer Review of Alex Gibson's Presentation

REVIEWER: JARRED GILLETTE

Mapping Correlation of Simulated Dark Matter Near a Point Source

In review of Alex Gibson's oral presentation, his presentation was overall effective. He was prepared for the presentation, and engaged the audience in the subject of his project. His presentation was well organized, and included images to guide the audience in understanding his analysis of data. He was not overly nervous, had a relaxed demeanor, and made eye contact with the audience.